OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF POLICE : DELHI.

CIRCULAR

No. 12 /2014, Record Branch, PHQ, Dated 11/04 /2014.

Subject:- Tackling the problem of missing children : Project 'SNEH'.

The rise in the number of missing children over the years is a cause of concern as about 20 to 25% children do remain 'untraced'. Understandably, the children who remain 'untraced' may be victims of human-trafficking or may be taking to crime in one form or the other. In order to tackle the problem of missing children, a Project has been conceived under the name 'SNEH' Under this scheme, Juvenile Welfare Officers (JWOs) of the police station will work in close co-ordination with NGOs working for welfare of children in the designated district and shall undertake awareness campaign / programme to control the menace.

To start with, 20 most vulnerable police stations which are affected by the problem of missing children have been selected and are given at Annexure 'A'. The details of NGOs district-wise are given at Annexure 'B'. It has been decided that two dedicated Juvenile Welfare Officers shall be posted in each of these 20 police stations who will work with NGOs along with other staff in the affected area of police station. The dedicated Juvenile Welfare Officers so appointed in the 20 identified Police Stations (Annexure-'A') shall not be entrusted any other routine work of the police station and shall exclusively work on issues of missing children and Juveniles only.

The whole scheme in these districts shall be co-ordinated by ACP in-charge of Special Juvenile Police Unit (SJPU) in the district. DCP/SPUWAC will monitor the activities of the programme for whole of Delhi through ACsP in-charge of Special Juvenile Police Unit (SJPU). The scheme would be extended to other police stations whenever there is possibility to post JWOs in each police station as per the directions of Juvenile Justice Committee of Hon'ble High Court of Delhi.
